

Quirky Roadside Art

Tall, wide, tires or metal, what makes good roadside art? You decide as you drive through the communities in North Dakota.

Enchanted Highway, Gladstone to Regent, ND, <http://www.enchantedhighway.net/>
Magnificent metal sculptures line 36 miles of scenic drive. Tin Family, Grasshoppers Delight, Fisherman's Dream, Geese in Flight, Teddy Rides Again, Pheasants on the Prairie and Deer Crossing.

Salem Sue, New Salem, ND, <http://www.realnd.com/salemsueindex.htm>
World's Largest Holstein Cow, built to honor the dairymen of the area, is 38 feet high and 50 feet long and is visible for five miles.

Dakota Thunder Buffalo, Jamestown, ND, www.tourjamestown.com,
Dakota stands 26 feet tall.

Wally the Walleye, Garrison, ND, www.garrisonnd.com
A 25-foot fiberglass walleye representing the great walleye fishing at nearby Lake Sakakawea.

Tommy the Turtle, Bottineau, ND, www.bottineau.com,
Tommy the Turtle is the world's largest snowmobile-riding turtle at over 26 feet tall.

Sandy the Sandhill Crane, Steele, ND, <http://www.realnd.com/steelecraneindex.htm>
Sandy stands 40 feet high.

Wee'l Turtle, Dunseith, ND, Junction highways 3, 5 and 281.
Giant Turtle statue made of more than 2,000 tire rims.

International Peace Garden, Dunseith, ND, www.peacegarden.com
Peace Garden Cairn, 120-foot Peace Tower and a floral clock and more.

Mystical Horizons, Bottineau, ND, www.bottineau.com;
"Stonehenge" of the prairie designed to view the summer and winter solstices and equinox.

Celebrity Walk of Fame, Fargo, ND, www.fargomoorhead.org.
Walk with more than 100 celebrity signatures, handprints and footprints in cement.